

Implementasi pemungutan retribusi izin mendirikan bangunan sebagai sumber pendapatan asli daerah Kota Depok

Agus Dwi Yudha, author

Deskripsi Lengkap: <https://lib.ui.ac.id/detail?id=124325&lokasi=lokal>

Abstrak

License to build charges is one of local owned revenue. In Depok, income from license to build charges is in the first position which gave big contribution among the other retributions. This situation is caused by increasing development in Depok, in industrial or housing. Official of city system and construction is the institution which have task to handle assessment of license to build, is still not doing income extensification which active yet. This case made writer interest to make a research, that is how the actual implementation of collection license to build in Depok.

This research is using quantitative approach in intention to have better understands using given theory. This research is based on the conceptual framework which has been developed through the related theory. This research is among descriptive research to describe research object based on the fact notice or as it is. Primary data gathering is acquired by doing in-depth interview based on conceptual framework to James McMaster theory about implementation. Secondary data is acquired by literature study to optimize theoretical framework in deciding the purpose and goal of the research also the concepts and other theoretical material in conjunction with research problem. Data analyses are using qualitative data analysis based on field discovery, both primary and secondary data.

The result from this research is the implementation of collection license to build is still not perfect in Depok. This matter can be looked from the indicators those explained by writer, mostly can't filled. The barriers of this research came from several cases, as from internal official and external official, which is public.