Abstract

In Indonesia's marketing practice, the occurrence of word of mouth phenomenon and the use of storytelling are founded in ?Indomie Story? version, which campaign the Indomie noodle products in 2011. Researcher wants to discover whether storytelling drives the process of occurrence of word of mouth in ?Indomie Story? campaign. In this research, researcher uses qualitative approach. Researcher found that the usage of storytelling in ?Indomie Story? campaign drives the process of occurrence of word of mouth because the campaign binds the brand and audience with value and emotion. Audience feels that Indomie story is relevant and close to them, so they share their personal story and ?Indomie Story? becomes word of mouth.
