Abstrak

Pengenalan pengelolaan uang saku dan menabung pada anak (usia 6 - 9 tahun) di pemukiman A] Bahar dilakukan untuk menghindarkan anak terus hidup dalam lingkaran kemiskinan. Program intervensi ini diadaptasi dari penelitian Roos dkk (2005) di Afrika Selatan dan menggunakan strategi psikologi intervnsi Sosial. Landasan teori yang digunakan dalam penelitian ini adalah Lewin's three-step model (1947) dan Kelman's attitude change theory (1958). Hasil dari program intervensi ini menunjukkan bahwa pemahaman dan identifikasi anak terhadap konsep ekonomi meningkat. Latar belakang motivasi perilaku menabung anak juga didiskusikan dalam laporan ini.

.....In order to prevent perpetual poverty among children whom lived in low socioeconomic status context, an introduction of pocket money management and saving were proposed and conducted for children (age 6 - 9 years old) in Al Bahar area. Psychological and social intervention strategies to promote pocket money management and saving behaviour were used and the intervention programme was adapted from the research of Roos et al (2005) in South Africa. The ground theories of the programme were Lewin's three-step model (1947) and Kelman's attitude change theory (1958). The result showed that performance on understanding and identification of economic concept improved after the programme was conducted. The motivational background for children's saving behaviour was discussed.
