

Optimalisasi kerjasama angkatan bersenjata negara-negara di Laut Cina Selatan guna meningkatkan kewaspadaan nasional dalam rangka ketahanan nasional

Deskripsi Lengkap: <https://lib.ui.ac.id/detail?id=20407664&lokasi=lokal>

Abstrak

Asia-Pacific is a strategic region for Indonesia, with security, economic and political issues in the South China Sea. SCS as a new silk road for obtaining natural resources, conflicting claims on the Spratly and Paracell Islands as well as border issues. This paper will examine the problem of cooperation between armed forces in SCS. Results show that there was non-optimal cooperation. It is expected that each country does not provoke each other.