

Pelibatan civil society organizations dalam proses regionalisme ASEAN = Civil society organizations engagement in ASEAN regionalism process / Askabea Fadhilla

Askabea Fadhilla, author

Deskripsi Lengkap: <https://lib.ui.ac.id/detail?id=20416204&lokasi=lokal>

Abstrak

[ABSTRAK

Association of Southeast Asian Nations (ASEAN) yang identik sebagai asosiasi elit mulai melibatkan Civil Society Organizations (CSO) sebagai respon terhadap dinamika yang terjadi di level domestik, regional maupun internasional. Komitmen untuk menjadi lebih people-oriented ini dinyatakan dalam berbagai dokumen resmi ASEAN. Tugas Karya Akhir ini menyoroti mekanisme pelibatan CSO dalam proses regionalisme ASEAN dan kesesuaiannya dengan pernyataan-pernyataan formal yang tercantum pada dokumen resmi ASEAN. Kajian literatur yang dilakukan menunjukkan bahwa ASEAN menggunakan mekanisme bounded engagement yang tercermin dari tiga indikator utama yaitu berdasarkan CSO yang dilibatkan, fungsi yang diberikan kepada CSO, serta isu. Moda pelibatan tersebut menunjukkan adanya inkonsistensi antara pernyataan normatif dan praktik yang terjadi.

<hr>

ABSTRACT

Associations of South East Asian Nations (ASEAN) which is identical as an elite association has started involving Civil Society Organizations (CSO) as the response towards the dynamics in domestic, regional, or international level. The commitment to become more people-oriented is stated in ASEAN official documents. This literature-review highlights the CSO engagement mechanism in ASEAN regionalism process and its compatibility with formal statements in ASEAN official documents. This literature-review shows that ASEAN uses bounded engagement mechanism reflected from three main indicators, namely participant-based engagement, functionbased engagement, and issue-based engagement. This engagement mode shows the inconsistency between normative statements and current practices. , Associations of South East Asian Nations (ASEAN) which is identical as an elite association has started involving Civil Society Organizations (CSO) as the response towards the dynamics in domestic, regional, or international level. The commitment to become more people-oriented is stated in ASEAN official documents. This literature-review highlights the CSO engagement mechanism in ASEAN regionalism process and its compatibility with formal statements in ASEAN official documents. This literature-review shows that ASEAN uses bounded engagement mechanism reflected from three main indicators, namely participant-based engagement, functionbased engagement, and issue-based engagement. This engagement mode shows the inconsistency between normative statements and current practices.]