Abstrak

Undoubtedly humor and laughing are essential parts of what it is to be human. All humor is fundamentally human activity, Humor is one of the most important form of creative human communication and expressive culture yet, the formal study of humor and its social consequences has not enjoyed widespread popularity. Humor literature can be split into two broad categories : (a) why individuals use humor (motivationally/psychologically) and (b) the function humor within a social setting on society (sociology).
