Abstrak

Vocational school is one of the high schools that has been chosen as priority for students after junior high school. But when they are not able to continue their study, they can make job field and invite others to work together. But in teaching and learning process, teachers still face some problem. So, the teacher should be more creative to apply more interesting methods for strategy. One of the models is introduced by the writer, cooperative learning that is guessing word type. It is hoped that the model will help students.
