

HR from the heart: inspiring stories and strategies for building the people side of great business

Sartain, Libby, author

Deskripsi Lengkap: <https://lib.ui.ac.id/detail?id=20438104&lokasi=lokal>

Abstrak

Human resources professionals are entrusted, perhaps more than any other corporate designates, with the well-being of their organization's population. They bridge the gaps between the individual and the collective, the person and the purpose. The most successful and effective HR professionals see their careers as a calling, and their work, though driven by corporate goals, is graced by a sense of purpose, a profound generosity, and a love for what they do and the constituencies they serve.