

Ritsumeikan Journal of Asia Pacific Studies

Deskripsi Lengkap: <https://lib.ui.ac.id/detail?id=20441787&lokasi=lokal>

Abstrak

In 1995, the Chinese government noted that one understanding of "indigenous person" was that these were peoples "living on their lands before settlers came from elsewhere; they are the descendants - according to one definition - of those who inhabited a country or a geographic region at the time when peoples of different cultures or ethnic origins arrived, the new arrivals later becoming dominant through conquest, occupation, settlement or other means." However, it continued: