

Smarts: are we hardwired for success?

Martin, Chuck, author

Deskripsi Lengkap: <https://lib.ui.ac.id/detail?id=20443659&lokasi=lokal>

Abstrak

Twelve specific and very important cognitive functions begin developing in the brain at birth. These "skills" are built in to every individual and are fully developed -- and unchangeable -- by adulthood. Everyone has these same capabilities, but to varying degrees. And it is this unique and unalterable combination of one's strengths and weaknesses that determines success or failure in any given role.