ABSTRAK

Penelitian ini bertujuan untuk membandingkan serta melihat pengaruh guilt proneness dan perceived social support terhadap readiness to change antara Anak yang Berhadapan dengan Hukum (ABH) di LPKA Klas IIA Salemba dan PSMP Handayani. Penelitian melibatkan 59 ABH berstatus narapidana yang diminta mengisi kuesioner TOSCA-SD, MSPSS, dan URICA. Hasil analisis regresi menunjukkan bahwa guilt proneness berpengaruh positif terhadap readiness to change di LPKA, tetapi tidak di Handayani. Perceived social support tidak berpengaruh terhadap readiness to change di LPKA maupun Handayani. Lalu, interaksi guilt proneness dan perceived social support berpengaruh positif terhadap readiness to change di LPKA, tetapi tidak di Handayani.

ABSTRACT

This study is conducted to compare and determine how guilt proneness and perceived social support can predict readiness to change of juvenile inmates in LPKA Klas IIA Salemba and PSMP Handayani. There are 59 participants were ask to fill the TOSCA-SD, MSPSS, and URICA which is then processed by using regression analysis. This study found guilt proneness gives positive effect on readiness to change in LPKA, but no effect in Handayani. Perceived social support has no effect on readiness to change in LPKA and Handayani. Then, this study found that interaction between guilt proneness and perceived social support significantly gives positive effect on readiness to change in LPKA, but no effect in Handayani.
