Abstrak

Skripsi ini membahas mengenai akibat dari pengaturan modal ventura terhadap kekhususan Perusahaan Modal Ventura (PMV) di Indonesia. Adanya perbedaan mendasar mengenai konsep PMV yang dikenal secara umum dan konsep PMV di Indonesia menyebabkan PMV di Indonesia memiliki kekhususan tersendiri. Menanggapi hal ini, Otoritas Jasa Keuangan mengeluarkan peraturan baru terkait PMV guna melakukan revitalisasi untuk dapat mengembalikan PMV kepada inti bisnisnya yaitu equity financing. Berdasarkan hal tersebut, terdapat beberapa permasalahan yang ditemukan yakni bagaimana konsep modal ventura secara umum dan penerapannya di Indonesia dan bagaimana implikasi pengaturan modal ventura terhadap kekhususan PMV di Indonesia. Permasalahan tersebut akan dijawab dalam penelitian ini dengan menggunakan metode penelitian yuridis normatif. Pada akhir pengkajian, ditemukan bahwa penerapan PMV di Indonesia yang berbeda dengan PMV pada umumnya mengakibatkan PMV di Indonesia tidak tepat sasaran karena cenderung seperti lembaga pembiayaan.

This thesis discusses the implication of venture capital regulation on venture capital firm specificity in Indonesia. There is a fundamental difference between venture capital firm concept in Indonesia and the concept outside Indonesia, therefore the venture capital firm concept in Indonesia has its own specificity. Based on that concept, Indonesian Financial Services Authority (OJK) issued a regulation on venture capital firm to modify the concept back to its original concept which is by the equity financing method. But, there are some problems found in order to modify the concept, such as how Indonesia applies the general concept of venture capital in its regulation and how the implication of it shall work on venture capital firm specificity in Indonesia. The solutions of those problems will be solved by using normative juridical method. At the end of this thesis, the conclusion is Indonesia has its own concept on venture capital firm specificity which makes the venture capital firm in Indonesia seems to be like financing institution.
