Abstrak

Isu-isu yang berkaitan dengan homoseksualitas telah banyak dibahas, contohnya meningkatnya representasi negatif homoseksual di media. Beberapa penelitian menganalisis umumnya homofobia yang berhubungan dengan maskulinitas. Modern Family adalah serial TV Amerika yang menggambarkan homoseksualitas dan hubungannya dengan maskulinitas tradisional, yang direpresentasikan oleh salah satu karakter utamanya, Jay Pritchett. Dengan menggunakan konsep Kimmel 1994 tentang homofobia dalam cakupan yang lebih luas, penelitian ini menganalisis maskulinitas Jay, terutama dalam konteks norma maskulin, hubungan ayah-anak, dan kontribusinya terhadap perilaku homofobia melalui analisis tekstual. Temuan penelitian ini menunjukkan bahwa nilai maskulinitas Jay memengaruhi hubungan ayah-anak secara negatif.

Issues related to homosexuality have been widely discussed, for example the increasing problematic representation of homosexuals in the media. Several studies analyze homophobia commonly its relation to masculinity. Modern Family is an American TV series which portrays homosexuality and its relations with traditional masculinity, represented by one of the main characters, Jay Pritchett. Using Kimmel's 1994 concept about the broader range of homophobia, this study analyzes Jay's masculinity, particularly in the context of masculine norms, father son relationships, and their contributions toward his homophobic behaviors through textual analysis. Research findings reveal that Jay's masculine values influence the father son relationship in a problematic way as they contribute to his homophobic behaviors.
