

The triumph of religion: Discourse to Catholics

Lacan, Jacques, 1901-1981, author

Deskripsi Lengkap: <https://lib.ui.ac.id/detail?id=20481393&lokasi=lokal>

Abstrak

Freud, an old style Enlightenment optimist, believed religion was merely an illusion that the progress of the scientific spirit would dissipate in the future. Lacan did not share this belief in the slightest; he thought, on the contrary, that the true religion, Roman Catholicism, would take in everyone in the end, pouring bucketsful of meaning over the ever more insistent and unbearable real that we, in our times, owe to science-

-From publisher's description.