

Correlation between serum c creative protein (CRP) and soluble CD40 lingand (sCD40L) with disease activity by modified rodnan skin score (mRSS) in systemic sclerosis patients in Indonesia

Widi Palupi Ayu Padmandani, author

Deskripsi Lengkap: <https://lib.ui.ac.id/detail?id=20503231&lokasi=lokal>

Abstrak

Background systemic sclerosis (SSc) is a chronic autoimmune disease which presents immunological, endothelilal dysfunction, skin and organs fibrosis. The inflammatory process is an important pathopshiology of systemic sclerosis. Disease activity assessment using clinical parameters of c creative protein (CRP), erythrocyte sedimentation rate (ESR) and soluble CD40 lingand.