

Taoist buildings: buildings of the indigenous religion of China

Qiao, Yun, author

Deskripsi Lengkap: <https://lib.ui.ac.id/detail?id=20511193&lokasi=lokal>

Abstrak

Taoism is a localized religion originating from China. In the early days, there were more Taoist monks than quiet mountains and forests and caverns living in seclusion. Until the Tang Dynasty, the Li dynasty adopted Taoism as the state religion to build temples, gods and Taoist temples. Later, through the development of Taoist architecture, it has spread all over the countrys famous mountains and scenic spots, forming the famous ten caves, 36 small caves, 72 blessed places and other temples and jungles . TAOIST BUILDINGS by Qiao Yun introduces Taishan, Huashan, Wudang, Qingcheng mountains and famous officials such as Baiyun Temple, Yongle Palace, Louguantai, Tianshifu, Qingyangguan, etc. The ingenious art of architecture.