

Kolaborasi Batalion 710 dan Darul Islam/Tentara Islam Indonesia (DI/TII) dalam Penyelundupan Kopra di Afdeling Mandar (1950-1965) = Collaboration between Battalion 710 and Darul Islam/Islamic Army of Indonesia (DI/TII) in the Smuggling of Copra in Afdeling Mandar (1950-1965)

Intan Ayuwantira, author

Deskripsi Lengkap: <https://lib.ui.ac.id/detail?id=9999920547715&lokasi=lokal>

Abstrak

Artikel ini membahas kolaborasi Batalion 710 dan DI/TII dalam penyelundupan kopra di Afdeling Mandar kurun waktu 1950-1965. Ketidakstabilan politik dan ekonomi setelah kemerdekaan dirasakan sampai ke daerah Mandar Sulawesi Barat, kubu DI/TII di bawah pimpinan Qahhar Mudzakkar memilih menanggalkan tanda kemiliteran mereka lalu bersembunyi di hutan sebagai aksi ditolaknya integrasi KGSS ke dalam APRIS. Ketegangan ini memicu konflik internal dalam TNI AD, akhirnya pemerintah meresmikan Batalion 710. Namun, kebutuhan mendesak akan logistik dan persenjataan mendorong Batalion 710 pimpinan komando Andi Selle untuk menjalin kolaborasi ilegal dengan DI/TII Qahhar Mudzakkar di Afdeling Mandar. Penelitian ini menggunakan metode sejarah: heuristik, kritik, interpretasi, dan historiografi, dengan sumber Arsip Provinsi Sulawesi (Rahasia) 1945, No. Reg. 480, Arsip Saleh Lahade 1950-1967, No. Reg. 272, dan surat kabar sezaman. Hasil penelitian menemukan bahwa sumber daya ekonomi Mandar dan reorganisasi kelaskaran mempertemukan dua kepentingan: pemimpin Batalion 710 dan mantan atasannya, yaitu Qahhar Mudzakkar. Kolaborasi ini mendorong barter kopra dengan senjata, logistik sebagai alat politik untuk mendukung para pejuang di Mandar. Akibatnya, rakyat mengalami kesengsaraan yang ditandai dengan berbagai kebijakan dagang, pembakaran kampung, dan migrasi besar-besaran penduduk Mandar ke Kalimantan.

..... This article discusses the collaboration of Battalion 710 and DI/TII in copra smuggling in Mandar Afdeling during the period 1950-1965. Political and economic instability after Independence was felt in the Mandar Wets Sylawesi, the DI/TII camp under the leadership of Qahhar Mudzakkar chose to remove their military markings and hide in the forest as an action to reject the integration of the KGSS into APRIS. This tension sparked internal conflict within the Army, which eventually prompted the government to formalize Battalion 710. However, the urgent need for logistics and weapons prompted Battalion 710 under Andi Selle's command to establish an illegal collaboration with DI/TII Qahhar Mudzakkar in Afdeling Mandar. This research uses historical methods: heuristics, criticism, interpretation, and historiography, with the sources of Sulawesi Provincial Archives (Secret) 1945, No. Reg. 480, Saleh Lahade Archives 1950-1967, No. Reg. 272, and contemporaneous newspapers. The research found that Mandar's economic resources and the reorganization of the army brought together two interests: the leader of Battalion 710 and his former superior, Qahhar Mudzakkar. This collaboration encouraged the bartering of copra for weapons as a political tool to support the fighters in Mandar. As a result, the people experienced misery characterized by low various trade policies, burning of villages, and massive migration of Mandar people to Kalimantan.